

EUGENE W. G. DAVID is a senior systems engineer in the Combat Systems Integration Group. Born in Maywood, Ill., in 1946, he received his B.S. degree in general engineering in 1969 from the University of Illinois. He has earned M.S. degrees in numerical science (1971) and management science (1973) from The Johns Hopkins University. Mr. David joined APL in 1969. A specialist in combat system design and integration, he served as assistant section supervisor in the Information and Display Group (1975-77) and section supervisor in the Combat System Design Group (1977-80). He is now assistant group supervisor of the Combat Systems Integration Group, supervisor of the Systems Design Section, and lead engineer for the development of the Gridlock Demonstration System.

DENNIS P. SERPICO is supervisor of the Command Support Section of the Combat System Integration Group. He was born in Chicago in 1943. He received the B.S.E.E. degree (1968) from the University of Illinois and the M.S.E.E. degree (1972) from The Johns Hopkins University. Since joining APL in 1968, he has worked on radar processing techniques, AEGIS-related control processes, tactical environment analysis, and other command and control systems. In recent years, his efforts have focused on information management and display systems supporting Battle Group AAW Coordination activities.
